BANQUET HELD TONIGHT
AT HOTEL CUMBERLAND

The Kentucky bankers of Group Ten and Group Eleven are in convention here today, representing one of the most interesting assemblies this city has played host to in some time. There are about one hundred visitors here, many of them with their wives or daughters. The Hotel Cumberland has been given over to them as a convention and reception hall, as well as a place to eat and sleep. All Middlesboro Kivans have put themselves and their cars at the disposal of the visitors' pleasure this afternoon.

Each banker, after registering at the hotel, registered with the convention secretary, giving his name, address, firm connected with, and his choice of amusement for this afternoon, a ride over the mountains into the three states an excursion to Fern Lake, with boating and fishing, or golfing at the Country Club.

The business session started about 9:30 o'clock this morning. W. R. Lay, cashier of the National Bank of John A. Black of Barbourville, and president of Group Eleven, Kentucky Bankers' Association, presided at the meeting. The Rev. A. B. Reeves, pastor of the Christian church, gave the invocation. Mayor J. H. Keeney made a brief but impressive welcoming address, to which Don S. Edwards, president of the National Bank of London, responded.

After a few words of compliment on Middlesboro and Middlesboro hospitality, and of particular commendation concerning the city's hotel, Mr. Edwards spoke at some length on present day economic conditions, bringing out the question as to whether, if industries in this country kept on organizing and "blooming" and pooling, they would not find unlooked for difficulties when they came to sell in the world's competitive markets. Mr. Edwards did not undertake to answer his question in full, however.

Is Reconstruction Over?

Mr. Edwards spoke of the ease with which the banks of this section met the recent financial crisis when deposits shrank and accounts were slow and the whole country was hard pressed; of the splendid way in which the banks got around the tobacco crop failure year before last in Central Kentucky and the coal slump in this section. Then he summed it up with the startling question, "But has the country really ever started on reconstruction?"

"Have we gone on curing all ills by increasing our currency, business profits and wages," asked Mr. Edwards, "if we have concluded there is no reconstruction? I think not. The last few weeks indicates that the balance of trade is turning against us, that we are buying more from foreign countries than we are selling them. Whenever the balance of trade turns definitely against us, we must have gold export, and I am interested to know the effect this will have on the country, economically."

Mr. Edwards went on to say that this country, despite its seeming prosperity, was growing poorer when it began to pay more than it sold. "We are traveling on too extravagant a plane," he said, "and our manufacturing and production costs too much in competition with other countries. We can't eke out the difference in interest."

national competition, with bond issues. We can't spend what we make on automobiles and joy rides and then, in hard times, turn around and eat it," he declared.

Profiteering Persists

"Never was there a time when wages were better, employment steadier and conditions more seemingly prosperous," he continued. "But if we turn money into luxuries, won't the time come when we are out of any thing to do at high prices? I find as much profiteering now as during the war, and it seems to me that competition got away during the war."

"Now every thing is regulated by groups or blocs," Mr. Edwards declared. "The burley tobacco growers, the fruit raisers, the skilled mechanic, even the day laborer, have learned the value of organization in getting the price he wants for his product. The grain farmer is starving because he has not organized forces. When all of our industry is organized, in this way, where are we going to sell? We can't go into the world markets and meet competition there. No one believes more in the rights of the producer and the laborer, but what are we going to do in this situation?" And so Mr. Edwards left the question.

O. D. Thomas of Lebanon, president of the Kentucky Bankers' Association, was the next speaker. He expressed himself as being in favor of better roads, better schools and as against any tonnage tax on coal. Coal lands should be taxed the same as agricultural lands, he said, and any form of excise which would retard the progress or hinder the development of the natural resources should not be levied.

For Good Roads And Schools

"Automobile owners wear out the roads and should pay for their building and up-keep," he said, after which he spoke in favor of a tax on gasoline or other tax that the motorists would have to pay.

He said nothing of politics so far as parties or candidates are concerned. He said if we would elect a real man for governor we would not need a commission to insure the proper expenditure of state funds.

He spoke at length on the importance of providing better schools in the state. "The remedy for all evils is found in the public schools," he stated, "if we have better schools we will have better citizens." Following this he paid a glowing tribute to womanhood. The Parent-Teachers' association is one of the most important organizations in the state, he said.

"We hear a lot about the money spent to run the government, but this does not compare with the amounts extravagantly used by members of the fiscal courts over the state." He told of one county which made a $250,000 appropriation for good roads and of how, after a two years' delay, the money was all gone and the roads were not built.

"Kentucky is second only to Pennsylvania in natural resources," he said, "but we are just now awakening to find out what Jehovah has done for us."

T. K. Helm Speaks on Taxes

Kennedy Helm, attorney for the Kentucky Bankers' Association, was the next speaker. The central theme of his address was the importance of legislation which would make a uniform tax rate all over the state. A levy of forty cents each for the city, county and state, is the proper proportion, he said. He is in favor of taking the matter of tax limitation out of the jurisdiction of the county and city.

Inasmuch as banks increase the amount of taxable property by financing the building of houses he said they should be allowed some of the leniency which the state exhibits toward the building loan associations.

"We ask to be placed on a competitive basis with banks of other states," he said.

W. W. Peayhouse, Deputy Bank Commissioner gave an instructive lecture on the duties of directors, their responsibilities and their relation to the bank. There have been five bank failures in Kentucky during the past

WOMAN BOND SELLER
ATTRACTIVE VISITOR
CONVENTION TODAY

One of the most interesting visitors at the bankers' convention today is Mrs. Ora Ferguson, salesman for the Fletcher American company, Louisville, the only woman bond salesman in the state, and one of the most successful bond salesmen any where. She is here as a regular delegate to the convention.

Mrs. Ferguson is a particularly attractive young woman in appearance, personality and conversation. Because of this and her ability to meet the men with whom she deals on equal terms she has won great success and popularity. She does not capitalize the fact that she is a woman and uses neither the tactics of a vamp or a suffragette. She says that if she can not sell her bonds on their merits and the reputation of her firm, she doesn't want to sell them.

Mrs. Ferguson's business career began during the war when she volunteered to do office work for a Liberty Bond campaign. When it closed she was asked to accept permanent employment of the same sort. Realizing after a few months that the money lay in the selling end of the game she went into that. In her first three months as assistant to the manager of the branch of her house, she sold more than her predecessor ever had in a similar period. When her boss resigned she got his post and she is still at the work, making more friends and more sales all the time.

For Perjury at Hartford, Conn.

By Associated Press.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 7.—Harold C. Schwarm who attracted attention in New York last summer as "Prince Henry de Busigny de Bourbon" today began a thirty day sentence in the county jail for perjury connected with statements regarding his identity when he married a New Britain young woman. Schwarm also reported to have represented himself as the son of a millionaire at Louisville and Hopkinsville, Ky. He attracted considerable attention at both places by his statements during his stay.

VETERAN OF 101
DIES IN ST. LOUIS

Former Paymaster in Union Army—Later in Wholesale Business in Kentucky

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Thomas Theobald, hundred and one years old, paymaster in the Union army under General Sherman, is dead at his home here. He was born in Kentucky. Later he entered wholesale grocery business with interests at Louisville, Lexington and Frankfurt.

Three years, he stated, three of them due to crooks and two to bad management. None of these failures would have resulted had the directors used proper discretion.

W. R. Lay, chairman, appointed a nominating committee composed of A. M. Hyatt, Broadhead; W. H. Chesney, Bernstadt, and W. D. Calvert of Corbin. He appointed the following on the resolutions committee: J. A. McDermott, Barbourville; Don C. Edwards, London and L. R. Hays of McKee. The morning session came to a close at 11:50.

The banquet for the bankers will begin at 7 o'clock tonight in the Hotel Cumberland. This will probably be the biggest meeting of the day. The program includes an address by Chas. N. Evans of the Fifth-Third National Bank, Cincinnati; an address by Earl S. Gwin, president of the Lincoln Bank and Trust Co., Louisville; an address by Senator White L. Moss of Pineville; and three-minute addresses by the visiting bankers.

SECOND GERMAN
NOTE PROVIDES
ANNUITY SYSTEM

Notes To Become Effective in 1927,
Pay Billion Two Hundred Million Marks Annually—Federal Railway as Guarantee

REPARATION PLAN GIVEN
ENTENTE AND U. S. TODAY

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 7.—Germany's reparations note, which was handed to the entente and the United States governments today, provides a system of annuities estimated to total a billion two hundred million marks annually. If an international loan is not available for immediate capital payments.

The annuities become effective in 1927 and the number and amount depend entirely upon the degree of Germany's economic recovery as a guarantee for annuities Germany would pledge the Federal railway system capitalized at ten billion marks and yielding annual bonded interest of five hundred billion marks. An additional two hundred million marks will be raised by increased customs duties. Germans ask that the proposition be submitted to the earliest imperial inquiry. It makes no mention of the Ruhr occupation and indulges in no discriminations.

THREE CONVICTIONS
IN CIRCUIT COURT

Grand Jury Brings Indictments For Murder Against Five at Pineville This Week

PINEVILLE, June 7.—Indictments charging murder against five men were returned by the grand jury into circuit court during the past week, and three convictions were returned by petit juries. Both the murder indictments are set for immediate trial.

Albert Roark, Oliver Beach and Scott Jackson were indicted for the murder of Arthur Gibson, porter at the L. & N. depot several weeks ago, and their trial set for Thursday, June 7, and Marsh Clark and Dave Gaylor, negroes indicted for the murder of Girt Roark and their trial set for Saturday June 9. All the men are in jail in default of bond. E. F. Thompson also was indicted, charged with kidnapping and robbing Bill Fulk, a taxi driver and his trial set for next week. The routine batch of indictments were returned but have not been announced.

General Lee Mays, indicted for murder of Charlie Wilson, on Greasy Creek, was convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. His attorneys have not announced whether they will appeal the case. Willie Hendrickson and William Brackett, charged with a shooting scrape, were tried jointly and each convicted drawing a three sentence. The first similar conviction in the history of Bell county and said to be the first in the state was reported by a jury which gave Phoebe Madden five years in the penitentiary for misconduct with a boy under 18 years old. The case was one of several brought to light by the activities of the county health officer. Ed Green, tried for mule stealing, was cleared.

Judge Porter vacated the bench in the case of the commonwealth against Sparlin Bowman and Charles Lane, under indictment for the murder of Fred Howard, and Governor Morrow has not yet appointed a special judge to hear the case. Attorneys for the boys have stated that will ask for a change of venue as soon as the case comes before a new judge. Attorneys in the case agreed to let Judge J. H. Jeffries try the case but the boys would not agree and an outside judge will be necessary.

FIRE THIS MORNING AT WILLIAMS' HOME—NO DAMAGE

The fire was extinguished before the fire engine arrived. With the exception of a small portion of blackened ceiling no damage was done.

HARDING URGES WORLD COURT

Points Out Help of U. S. Membership
In Stabilizing Civilization While Surrendering Nothing

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Harding in a letter made public here today declared by accepting membership in the world court the United States "may make largely feasible the stabilization of civilization while at the same time surrendering nothing of advantage of independence" now enjoyed by American people. The letter addressed to Bishop F. Galer of Tennessee, head of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal church who wrote the President that thousands of citizens deem it a matter of honor in the same way that the American nation should contribute its influence to the rehabilitation of Europe.

L. AND N. EMPLOYE AT LOYAL IS DROWNED MONDAY NIGHT

HARLAN, June 7.—George W. Pope, 25, an employee of the L. and N. railroad at Loyal, was drowned while swimming in the Cumberland river below Loyal Monday night. He was with a party of three and swam across the river, leaving them. They heard a cry, and turned to see him sink on the other side. They recovered the body but Pope was already dead.

The body was shipped to his former home in West Virginia for burial. His father is Jesse Pope, a Baptist minister in West Virginia.

LOCAL BAND MAY BE FIN-ANCED BY COMMUNITY CHEST

Efforts to have the Middlesboro band at least partially financed out of the Community Chest fund are being made. Before the Community Chest drive started several business men had agreed to give a small sum monthly for the support of the organization. Now, however, some of these are reluctant to donate to the band. Inasmuch as it is a community affair many think that it should be a beneficiary of Community Chest fund.

A meeting of the band was not held last night, it having been decided by the members to defer further work until it is known what action will be taken by the Community Chest committee. The matter will soon be taken before the committee. Members of the band would like, if possible, to give public performances on the coming Fourth of July.

WHY ARE SO MANY WATCH SPRINGS BROKEN RECENTLY?

Considerable comment has been evoked here and elsewhere ament the recent unusual number of broken watch springs. Local watch repairmen report that they are behind with work of this kind and that watches with broken spring continue to come in. To what can this unusual condition be ascribed?

It has been suggested that electricity in the air produced by recent thunderstorms affects the spring in this manner but jewelers are not in accord with this view some of them saying that watch springs break at any time without any apparent cause. The jewelers encyclopedia, while admitting that sudden changes in temperature or electrical charges may cause a spring to break, says the breakage "may be ascribed to the dog days or any other reason that is not logical or horological."

DOMESTIC PEACE

Something whose absence leaves a void—

A cheerless want in every heart;
Each feels the bliss of all destroyed
And mourns the change—but each apart.

The fire is burning in the grate
As ready as it used to burn;
But still the heart is desolate,
Till mirth, and love, and peace return.

'Twas peace that flowed from heart to heart
With looks and smiles that spoke of heaven,
And gave us language to impart
The blissful thoughts itself had given.
Domestic peace! best joy of earth,
When shall we all thy value learn?
White angel, to our sorrowing heart,
Return, oh graciously return.

—Anne Bronte.

A CELERY TURNIP

"Celery turnip" is a comparatively new vegetable to most tables although the turnip-rooted celery or celeriac has been in cultivation for many years. It is, as its name indicates, a celery with a thick fleshy root like a turnip.

To prepare it for the table, pare the root, soak it in cold water for an hour, then slice and boil until tender and serve with a dressing either of cream or butter, precisely as if it were a turnip. It may also be mashed.

A popular use, however, is sliced cold in salads. In this case the root is boiled whole in salted water until tender, peeled and sliced and dressed with French or mayonnaise dressing as preferred. It has the same flavor as celery.

It may be sown now for a late crop and the plants transplanted as soon as they have made two true leaves about a foot apart in rows eighteen inches to two feet apart. It needs rich soil.

plenty of moisture and thorough cultivation, the same as celery. The roots keep as well when stored in the cellar as turnips or beets.

Celeriac is beginning to appear in the city markets each winter although its progress into popular favor has been slow owing to ignorance of how to prepare it for the table. It makes a useful addition to the menu, furnishing a variety in vegetables when the selection is rather limited. The large Erfurt for many years was the standard variety, but recently there have been improvements in this vegetable while heaviest in types with smoother surface and fewer roots. The new "Delicatessen" is a good example of the improved type.

If you can spare a row in your garden for a few plants of celeriac you will be adding a vegetable to the winter supply which will be much relished by anyone who likes the flavor of celery.

CHURCHES CONDEMN 12-HOUR WORK DAY

Organized Religion Representatives Attack Stand of U. S. Steel Corporation

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Representatives of 50,000,000 protestants, Roman Catholics and Hebrews joined forces today in a statement condemning as unworthy and untenable the arguments of the committee of the American Iron and Steel Institute which recently reported unfavorably on the elimination of the twelve hour day in the steel industry.

The report, made by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation at the meeting of the Institute in New York, and there adopted, was characterized in the statement today as "shattering public confidence."

"The forces of organized religion in this country are now warranted," this statement asserted, in declaring that this nearly indefensible region of the twelve hour day must come to an end. A further report is due from the Iron and Steel Institute—a report of a very different term.

The statement was put forth in the name of the commission on the church and social services of the Federal Council of Churches, the social action department of the national Catholic welfare council and the social justice commission of the Central conference of American Rabbis.

TALBOTT'S

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

By Charles P. Stewart

After a month of consideration, Governor "Al" Smith has signed the bill repealing state prohibition, originally passed to bring New York into legal conformity with the Volstead act. This leaves New York still dry by federal but no longer by state enactment.

In signing the repeal bill, Smith repudiated the idea of "nullification"—defiance by a state of a federal law.

Repeal he said, will not bring in light wines or beer, nor will it bring back the saloon. He pointed out that state officials still are bound to enforce the Volstead act, though prosecution must be in the federal, not state courts.

Of President Harding's hint that state and federal conflict may occur, Smith said:

"It would be a calamity to permit such a fundamental misconception of the relations between the states and the federal government to pass unchallenged."

Also

"This is not a question of prohibition, but a question whether all vestige of the rights of the states, guaranteed by the federal constitution, is to be driven from our theory of government."

And further

"The definition of an intoxicating beverage contained in the Volstead act is not an honest or a common sense one."

As a "constructive suggestion," Smith urged an "honest," "common sense" amendment of the federal law.

Captives' Release Asked

A formidable petition has been laid before President Harding for release of the 52 wartime political captives still in federal prisons.

Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, Montana and Oklahoma governors; presidents of the Catholic University of America, Temple University, St. Stephen's College, Vassar, Mount Holyoke, Smith, Oberlin, Trinity, Bryn Mawr and Swarthmore; Editors Frank of the Century, Swope of the New York World, Garnett of the Nation, Croley of the New Republic, William Allen White of the Emporia (Kas.) Gazette. Also Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law, Francis B. Sayre

Lending his voice, Governor Donahy, Ohio, Harding's state, says, "The animosities born of a war-inspired public mind should die away as rapidly as possible." Alfred Bettam of the government's wartime legal staff adds that while these prison sentences "may have had some justification during the war, they cease to have any now."

Henry Ford's Boom

Henry Ford's presidential boom continues to develop.

William Randolph Hearst announces he will support Ford on an independent ticket.

On the other hand, the Brith Abraham grand lodge accuses Ford of backing the Ku Klux Klan financially, deducing that he shares the Klan's anti-Jewish, anti-Catholic, anti-negro, anti-foreign views.

Ku Klux Klan

A court order at Atlanta has tied up the Ku Klux Klan's money temporarily. June 9 was set for hearing a receivership petition.

Complainants charge Imperial Wizard Evans with misusing the Klan's funds, and accuse Evans and Emperor Simmons of turning the Klan into a machine for personal "enrichment and aggrandizement."

Politics in Germany

The "red" outbreak in the Ruhr has been suppressed, at least for the present.

For a while the French, in control there, treated it as none of their affair. When it threatened to go to extremes they helped the local authorities to put it down.

The prediction is made on seemingly good authority that Chancellor Cuno of Germany will resign soon, be succeeded by Dr. Stresemann and that Stresemann will come to terms with France.

RAILROADS SHOW MORE EFFICIENCY

Handle Greater Amount of Traffic Than Ever Before at This Season

The following report on traffic conditions is from the Monthly Business Review:

Those tendencies in transportation conditions which were reported in our last Review continued during April and the first part of May so that the railroads are now carrying a still greater volume of traffic than they did in March and are handling with fair success more traffic than they have ever before handled at this season of the year.

For the week ending April 28 there were loaded 903,694 carloads of revenue freight. During the same period in 1922, 751,111 carloads were handled. In the first four months of this year more than 15,000,000 carloads have been transported, or about 2,200,000 more than during the first four months of last year.

The reduction in the car shortage which was noted last month, has also been continued until on April 30 there was a shortage of only 35,282 cars, or less than a one-half day's loading. At the same time the surplus amounted to over 13,000 cars. This condition of a reduced shortage with an increased loading appears to be explainable by increased efficiency in the use of equipment, both on the part of the carriers in rapid movements and on the part of the shippers in heavier loading and fewer terminal delays.

According to recent figures of the American Railway Association, the net operating income of class 1 railroads during March totaled $83,568,000 equivalent to an annual return at the rate of 5.84 per cent on their tentative valuation, as against $83,487,000 or a return of 5.96 per cent in March, 1922. Compared with March of last year, operating revenues increased 13 per cent to $535,541,000 and operating expenses of $417,913,000 were 15.75 per cent larger.

Our Greetings To Visiting Bankers!

And by-the-way--- did you ever hear this good luck story?

His old horse died and his mule went lame,
And he lost his cow in a poker game,
A cyclone came one summer day
And blew his house and barn away;
Then an earthquake followed to make it good
And swallowed the ground where his house had stood;
And then the mortgage man came around
And heartlessly claimed the hole in the ground.
This shock was so great that he up and died,
And his widow and children wept and cried.
But something was left for the kids and wife,
For he had insurance with J. L. MANRING.

STUDEBAKER
LIGHT-SIX
TOURING CAR
$975

More Cars Shake Themselves to Pieces Than Ever Wear Out

Charge that up to vibration.

Vibration causes cars to grow old prematurely by racking their chassis, destroying the "metal life" of vital parts, loosening up their bodies and causing squeaks and rattles. Frequent, costly repairs are the result.

The Studebaker Light-Six is freer from vibration than any car of its approximate size or weight yet produced.

This has been accomplished largely by a complete machining of the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces—a practice used by Studebaker exclusively on cars at this price and found only on a very few other cars whose selling prices are from three to ten times as high as the Light-Six.

There are 61 precision operations in the manufacture of the crankshaft alone, 40 of which range in accuracy from one-quarter thousandth to one thousandth of an inch.

The Light-Six motor embodies the most advanced design known to automobile construction. And no chassis at any price is built to more exacting standards of materials and workmanship.

Aside from its mechanical excellence and its consequent long life, the Light-Six is handsome in design, extremely comfortable, sturdy, and we believe the most economical car to buy and operate ever offered at $975 or anywhere near this figure.

Its substantial all-steel body, one-piece, rain-proof windshield, ten-inch cushions upholstered in genuine leather, cowl lamps—these are among many features heretofore to be had only in higher-priced cars.

For 71 years the name Studebaker has stood for integrity, quality and value.

BANKERS ARE GUESTS TODAY
OF KIWANIS

 All Formal Business Dispensed With—Songs, Short Speeches and Extravagant Merriment
 Order of Day

VISITORS ENTERTAINED BY KIWANIANS THIS AFTERNOON

 All business was dispensed with at the Kiwanis club luncheon today noon and the meeting was turned into a social affair with one idea of entertaining the visiting bankers. All of the bankers here at the convention today were guests at this luncheon, each local Ki-wanian taking one or two of the visitors in as his guests.

 From beginning to end, all formalities were dispensed with in this meeting. "Lil Liza Jane" and "Old Mc-Donald," whose popularity with that of other favorite Kiwanian songs had been on the wane at recent meetings, were revived with renewed vigor by Jack Luman and Russ Hill, song leaders, and song after song was sung. The management had broken up the usual long table into small ones, so the visitors were more comfortably seated in small groups of five or six around the room.

 A. P. Liebig, president of the club, was master of ceremonies and presided at the drawing for prizes. The first name drawn was that of Chas. N.
 Evans of the Fifth-Third National Bank, Cincinnati, and it was announced that he would be given a fine bedroom "suit" by Sterchi Brothers and Tennent. The "suit" was there all right, but it was pajamas instead of furniture. The second prize was a small Ford tractor, drawn by C. C.
 Brown of Poor Fork.

 After this prominent visitors were called on for short talks. The president limited them to two minutes, but few of them got past the first word or first sentence, when the boisterous Kiwanians sang them down. Among those who were called on for speeches were:
 Earl Gwin, Lincoln Bank and Trust Company, Louisville; R. P. Revill, New York Bank of Commerce, New York;
 E. V. Robertson, National Bank of Kentucky, Louisville; W. W. Rubel, Marion National Bank, Lebanon, Ky.; and Harold Helm, Chemical National Bank
 New York.

 After the meeting the visitors were taken by the Kiwanis Club members for rides to Fern Lake, over the mountains or to the country club.

 A committee to welcome the Louisville Boosters, coming next week was appointed composed of the following men:

 T. R. Hill, chairman; W. E. Frazer,
 R. K. Judy, F. R. Whalin, C. A. Blackburn, C. O. Brown and W. C. Stair.
CONVENTION NOTES
 John T. Moore, cashier of the Louisville Branch, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, was a visitor here today for the first time, and was most enthusiastic in his praise of Middlesboro and every thing he found here. He said he has heard of Middlesboro a long time but hadn't realized it was any thing like the city he found it. He praised particularly the hotel and the appearance of the business section of the city, as well as the hospitality of the people he met here.

 Mr. and Mrs. Rankin R. Revill of New York were prominent visitors today. Mr. Revill is from the National Bank of Commerce, New York. Both Mr. and Mrs. Revill seemed to be enjoying the convention and their visit greatly. Both spoke highly of Middles-boro and its people.

 E. B. Robertson of the National Bank of Kentucky, Louisville, praised Mid-dlesboro highly, but this is no new thing for Mr. Robertson who is a frequent visitor in Middlesboro and a booster. Remarking today he said that he could say, after the manner of Nat Goodwin that he was not born in Middlesboro, but if he ever went through that important occasion again he would like it to be in Middlesboro.

 Billy Miller of the Citizens Union National Bank, Louisville, was enthusiastic about the reception given the bankers by the local people, particularly the Kiwanians. "I have been to every group meeting in the state this year," he said, "but none of them can compare with this meeting at Middles-boro."
ASKS DESCRIPTION OF DOMES-TIC LIFE MIDDLESBORO NATIVES
 This letter came in this morning and it interested us so we are printing it below:

 Editor Daily News: You know I'm glad to see Louisville so well represented here today at the Banker's convention.

 Louisville folks really aren't aware of the fact that Middlesboro is more than a mining camp.

 Recently I visited in this famous city of Kentucky and many folks gave consoling remarks to me because I lived in such a crude part of their state where "education is rare and natives live in queer abodes." One prominent business man asked me to write a description of some of the homes here. He explained it would be interesting to have a personal account of the great contrast between the homes up here in Middlesboro in the mountains and those in Louisville.

 Let's make them want to come back again.
